Nov. 4-7 Set For National JCCA Conference

The third Annual Conference of the Japanese Canadian Citizens Association will be held at Lethbridge, Alta., on November 4-7, the National JCCA headquarters confirmed this week. All provincial chapters have been notified and a tentative agenda drawn up by the National Executive Council, has been sent out to them for their approval.

Maximum representation from each provincial chapter will be three delegates. In addition, the National President, the National Treasurer and the Executive Secretary will attend the 4-day convention.

The late date of this year's conference was decided upon at the last national meet as the most suitable time in view of the fact that it was to be held in Alberta.

The first day, according to the tentative schedule, will be taken up by registration, steering committee meeting and reports. A representative of the Alberta JCCA will welcome the delegates.

The JCCA organization from the national to the local will be discussed in the morning session of the second day with the future projects of the JCCA to be the subject in the afternoon. The afternoon session is expected to provide the most important phase of the conference with the work of the JCCA such as race relations, cultural relations between Japan and Canada, national survey, citizenship, assisting of Japanese Canadian strandees still in Japan, fair employment practices legislation, bill of rights, and social welfare to be the topics.

Following a free Sunday morning, the vital question of finances will be on tab for the afternoon of the third day. The election of officers, resolutions, and the site of the next conference will be the subject matter of the final day.

Just Passing Through

By KEN ADACHI

In the town . . .

Life in the hog-town started in a very spectacular fashion last Saturday morning. Woke up in the morning to find huge headlines of three to four inches blazing forth with the news that the S. S. Noronic had been gutted by fire from bow to stern and that over 150 persons were thought to be dead. What had been a pleasure cruise on this luxury ship had turned into a grim graveyard sojourn. Lurid details of the disaster flooded the newspapers.

The big headlines were rather startling. The last time that I had seen headlines comparable in size was at the end of the war.

This Toronto harbour disaster is somewhat reminiscent of the Pier D Vancouver harbour fire although no deaths were involved in the latter. We were just kids when that particular fire occured but the excitement and color of the incident has never faded from my mind. I can remember the black clouds billowing up into the sky and the intense blaze of flame licking at the wooden structure of the pier. And the blackened twisted stumps that marked the remains of the pier is still etched in my mind.

Call it morbid curiosity but we went to see this SS Noronic that afternoon. By that time the fire was under control and there remained only the business of recovering the bodies. We found that we weren't the only ones who were curious but there were thousands of others lining the waterfront street to get a glimpse of the gutted shell of [illegible] proud ship.

A glimpse was all we got for a police cordon lined the street and prevented any passing [illegible]. But we saw a ghostly [illegible] of a ship listing badly [illegible] the scene of sombre tragedy.

There [illegible] brightly dressed [illegible] and women straining [illegible] floating tomb. The [illegible] teen-agers romped [illegible] of tragedy, but [illegible] lively curiosity. [illegible] sunny day and [illegible] sparkling on the [illegible] strange incongrous [illegible] this disaster.

A survey of the Japanese language by Kiyoshi K. Kawanami, noted author writing for the Christian Science Monitor, has brought out the many defects of the language. The only solution lies in the step of discarding the language and adopting a western language in its place. English would be the logical language as it is the richest modern language and is already fairly widespread in Japan.

In 1946 Gen. MacArthur invited to Tokyo 27 American educators and sought their advice on the question of Japan's educational reform. The group made six recommendations, the second of which was the abolition of the system of writing in mixed Chinese ideograms and Japanese phonograms and the adoption in its place of Romaji or Roman letters.

Some Japanese educators had little enthusiasm; others thought that it did not go far enough, that the adoption of English and the gradual elimination of the native language should have been recommended.

The growth of Japanese as an independent language was nipped as Japan adopted the Chinese characters as the system of writing but retained their own method of pronunciation. Thus Chinese ideograms have become thoroughly integrated with Japanese civilization and the most the Japanese have been doing is to eliminate as many Chinese characters from their vocabulary as possible.

An adoption of English would teach the Japanese new concepts of democracy, of human rights, of womanhood, essential to the wholesome growth of a reborn Japan. It would not destroy traditional native virtues as English tradition and character is similar to those of the Japanese.

Some Japanese are optimistic enough to predict that English if systematically taught, will be firmly rooted in the country within 50 years. By the middle of the next century, they hope Japan will have become an English-speaking nation.

Detroit Honeymoon Couple Escapes Noronic Disaster

Mr. and Mrs. John Takeshima of Detroit were two of the more fortunate passengers aboard the ill-fated Noronic. Married for less than a week at the time of the tragedy, the couple were spending their honeymoon on the lake cruise.

A Saturday afternoon check with a downtown hotel failed to locate them and it is believed that the pair returned to their home in Detroit after spending the morning in Toronto.

Former Envoy Heads Japan College Drive

NEW YORK — Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Japan, has been named chairman of a campaign to raise $10,000,000 for the proposed Japanese International Christian University, it was announced here.

The projected university, to be erected near Tokyo, is expected to open its doors in April, 1951. Dr. Hachiro Yuasa, president of the Doshisha University, has been named the first president.

The fund-raising campaign is to be carried on in both the United States and Canada. A similar drive for funds in Japan has already been completed with more than $400,000 subscribed, which is more than the quota for Japan.

ONTARIO JCCA HOLDS COUNCIL MEETING

LONDON, Ont. — The Ontario JCCA called a meeting of its Council to be held on Sunday, Sept. 25, with the coming National Conference as the main topic of discussion. Other matters to be discussed are the raising of funds, and the future projects of the Ontario JCCA.

In addition to the chapter representatives, the executive secretary of the National JCCA, George Tanaka, and the three Ontario representatives to the National Conference, Tammy Marubashi, John Kumagai and Fred Kayahara, will attend the meeting.

Looking Up

Kids Are Lucky These Days

Dear Arabella:

About a month ago I was watching [illegible] brother Ted play ball. He's second baseman for the Union Blockbuster Pee-Wees. (Union is a nearby village six miles south of St. Thomas.) Two other brothers play on Union teams: Hank for the bantams, Ken for the seniors.

Kids sure are lucky in these days of prosperity. Ten-year-old Ted plays in a yellow sweatshirt with the sponsor's name blazoned across the chest in blue script. His baseball cap is in the team colors. All his team-mates are similarly outfitted. The pee-wees, like the older bantams, are supplied with full catcher's equipment, new bats, and new regulation junior-size hardballs. And adult umpires too. All the trimmings, in fact.

In our day, when we were between [illegible] and fifteen, we were lucky if our catcher had a patch-[illegible] mask. He had no belly protector or shinguards. Our uniforms were the bravely-patched everyday clothes that our [illegible] made us wear for baseball. Our balls were tennis balls, Japanese sponge balls, or ancient hardballs taped up (in the ascending scale of development). We had no umpires and the games ended up in more fights than in clean-cut decisions.

And to top it all, this game I saw was the first in a 2-out-of-3 series in an early round of the OBA (Ontario Baseball Association) Pee-Wee playoffs. Opponents were the St. Thomas Pee-Wees sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Well-organized stuff this, all players have to show birth certificates to prove pee-wee eligibility. And for these playoff games, the highly-touted "Snap" Binns, local Senior Inter-County umpires, was to officiate.

Because of uncertain weather, Binns didn't show up. Instead couple young fellows who came along with the city team were recruited.

Just as I was musing over this comparison with our kid days, and thinking how lucky Ted and bantam Hank and their teammates were, the dispute came up.

Union was behind 7-2, and there had been a couple of questionable decisions. The Union

Niseis Play Part In Noronic Tragedy

One of the first to answer the call for volunteer workers was George Suzuki, Scoutmaster, who worked all Saturday afternoon and for nine hours from 2 a.m. Sunday morning. He remained on duty at the Red Cross headquarters where one of his duties was to answer telephone calls from anxious friends and relatives of the victims and survivors.

"It was a tough job talking to these people," he said. "They didn't want to get off the phone, even though we told them there was no word about the particular person whom they were seeking."

He said he was amazed at the number of telephone calls the Red Cross received from people offering their help.

When the Toronto Radio station CKEY went to the scene of the disaster to broadcast first-hand accounts, James Shinu of the station's technical staff was on hand. He also wrote a brief description of what he saw which was broadcast over the Buffalo radio station WEBR.

MORE NISEIS AT COLLEGES TODAY

The number of Niseis enrolling at colleges and universities has been steadily increasing since the evacuation. As Canadian institutes of higher learning open their doors this and next week, this year should not prove to be an exception.

It is gratifying to realize that more Japanese Canadians are afforded the opportunity of furthering their studies after high school graduation. The picture has changed from the pre-evacuation era when college education was regarded more as a costly futility. This conception is not without some justification for the effect of higher learning on immediate economic gain was dubious for the Nisei.

The higher income and earning power of the Japanese Canadian family, and the fact that there are more Niseis of college age than ever before are contributory factors in the increase of Nisei undergrads but nothing has added more impetus to the desirability of higher education than the lessening of racial prejudice which has provided more and better opportunities for the qualified Nisei.

Larry Tajiri:

LITTLE TOKYO'S UNDERWORLD

There was a time when Little Tokyo had an underworld.

In the records of the Los Angeles police and of the police of several other coast communities are murder cases which are yet to be closed. The records tell of bullet-ridden bodies found on a lonely beach, of shots fired from moving cars, of men killed in the night.

Some months ago a man was arrested in Los Angeles and charged with a murder committed 25 years before, in 1924. This Issei was a businessman, a church-goer. Investigation soon disclosed that someone had blundered. The suspect's name was the same as that of a man wanted for questioning at the time the bodies of two gamblers were found. The mistake was regrettable and its innocent victim spent two uncomfortable days in prison before he could convince the police of the error. The incident also showed that the police have long memories and cases of a quarter-century ago have not been forgotten.

Actually the acts of violence were only sporadic and occurred at times when there was a contest for power within the underworld organization. It is probably true that there was less resort to acts of violence in this Little Tokyo underworld than in other comparable areas, since Department of Justice records show the resident population of Japanese ancestry to be one of the most law-abiding of racial groups in the United States, in spite of the existence of an underworld organization. In the last year before the evacuation there were 570 criminal offenses charged against the 126,500 persons of Japanese ancestry in the United States, or an annual crime rate of only 4.5 per 1000 persons. Of the total of 570 offenses charged, nearly one-half were for gambling and drunkenness. There were only 5 cases of criminal homicide, 5 of robbery and 35 sex offenses, making the Japanese American community one of the best behaved in the nation.

This Little Tokyo underworld which existed before war and evacuation was dominated by the Tokyo Club, a coastwise organization which dealt in both legitimate and illegitimate activities. In Los Angeles its focal activity was the operation of a gambling club but its agents, particularly in the prohibition era in the 1920's, also acted as fixers and [illegible] with corrupt police and [illegible] officials. Thus the [illegible] had a vested interest [illegible] maintenance of a corrupt administration and, in this coach, the prosperous building contractor whose generosity supplied the kids with all their equipment and their uniforms, started to raise hell.

This started an over-sized rhubarb which stopped the game cold. For about a half-hour, both team coaches and the hapless umpires were involved in strident arguing with one another. Finally the game was called.

As the bus carrying the St. Thomas team pulled out, some of the local pee-wees started to throw mud-clumps and a second-hand ice cream cone at the kids in the bus who were shouting uncomplimentary remarks about the Union sponsor-coach. As I drove Ted home, I'm afraid there was a sour taste in my mouth.

In a material way, these kids are very fortunate. And their games are well organized and played on cared-for fields. The St. Thomas City Recreation Commission provides adult guidance—a feature being the baseball school with Senior Inter-County players as teachers.

But despite all this, the kids have their playing spoiled through partisan quarrelling by the adults involved.

Kids of pee-wee and bantam age, are offered a golden chance to teach them to be good sports. I believe in scrappy all-out playing-to-win on the field. And remaining friends after the game.

Stopping a game with a prolonged rhubarb is a lousy way to play ball. And an even lousier way to teach kids how to play ball.

Seems to me all the money spent on uniforms and good equipment goes down the drain this way.

I was thinking earlier how lucky these kids were. Now, I'm not so sure. But what bothers me most is that opportunity is being thrown away like yesterday's garbage.

Quite a switch from kid baseball to the Great American Novel. But here goes.

Carl Sandburg's Remembrance Rock is getting a big best-selling play right now. A massive thing—it compresses the three centuries of American history into a novel which tells of the Great American Dream. I worked through to the ruddy end (something like 1070 pages) but despite occasional flashes of Sandburg poetry and some intriguing characters, there seemed to be too much of everything. Like reading a history book for entertainment. Colorful, yes, but still a history book.

The American Dream, to hear the Americans tell it, is one of vigorous pioneer optimism that hewed a mighty nation out of a rich but wild unknown land. A feeling of exultation usually accompanies this declaration somewhat in the manner of a grandiose Hollywood musical letting all guns go in the blazing finale.

But [illegible] Rock [illegible] feeling. I [illegible] the American Dream [illegible] better, even though [illegible] quite hit the target either—perhaps because of its tone. This is Ross Lockridge's Raintree County—published 3-4 years ago—another massive thing but loaded with sex to the eyeballs.

Perhaps Raintree County does not take itself as seriously as the Sandburg work does. The Rock bears a cloak of dedicated purpose. The County wears a gay cape of lusty Americana closer to bawdy smoking-room humor than Jeffersonian doctrine.

A story connected with Raintree County fascinates me with its possibilities. The novel is so suffused with sex it has replaced Lady Chatterly's Lover as the book proper matrons read under their pillows when nobody's looking. An outstanding success as a first novel, its literary content, once the sex is elbowed aside, is uneven but often high.

Yet author Lockridge, once college professor of English, killed himself about a year after his novel took the country by storm. Why?

OF INTEREST TO EX-TASHME STUDENTS

Some time ago, former Tashme students in Toronto decided that they would like to send a wedding gift to Mrs. Winnie Aumack (nee McBride) and parcels to Misses K. Greenback and M. McLachlan in Japan (picture) as tokens of appreciation for all the good work they did for the Japanese during evacuation.

A committee was appointed to canvass the homes of the students. A tri-lite lamp was sent to Mrs. Aumack and two CARE parcels each to the two ladies in Japan. Letters have been received from these teachers (one printed in the New Canadian on Sept. 7) one of which is published below.

Thanks go to all those who co-operated with this undertaking and to the committee consisting of Misses C. and V. Seo, M. Kudo, M. Watanabe, M. Omotani, T. Ando, and K. Irizawa, A. Arai, K. Sakamoto and R. Nishikawa.

—A. A.

Lake Nojiri, Japan
August 6, 1949

Dear Tashme friends:

To think that you used your precious pennies to send those CARE parcels to us! They are such good parcels; there is nothing that pleases our Japanese friends more than the things in those parcels. But they are expensive and I am sure that you haven't many pennies to spare since you are studying. It made me happy to know you remembered us. The needs around me are so great that I sometimes feel as if I cannot see beyond them and have no time for letters. But often in the midst of it I think of you. The bits of news that come to me make me happy and proud of you. I often encourage people here by telling them of the difficulties you met and overcame.

The Tashme experience has helped me in trying to befriend these people who are facing even harder problems and suffering than you folks did. I think out of your experience you could help them better than I.

I came back, as you know, to teach in a girls' school. I teach 22 hours a week. In our city there is a Junior College of high standing. The students come to my Bible Study classes and my evenings are given largely to them. A large group are Communists; another group, seeing no hope or meaning in life are Nihilistic in their thinking. Then there is the group who are not satisfied with either—they wish to find some meaning in life, some solution to their personal and the country's problems. They are great students of philosophy and economics and read in English many of our best books. I find them better read than most young people at home.

I am having two weeks holiday at Lake Nojiri with Miss Greenback at her cottage. It is a lovely spot on a hill-side overlooking one of the most beautiful lakes that I have ever seen. Perhaps you remember Howard Norman, the Vancouver minister who spoke at our church services in Tashme—he and his wife and three children were with us.

Thank you again for remembering us and may God bless you.

Sincerely,
May MacLachlan.

シャウプ博士の税制改革勧告案は實際にどうひびくか

これを家計について見よう

年十萬圓收入の者について見ると獨身者では勤勞所得者では一万五千圓の税金が一万四千圓に僅か一千圓の輕減にすぎないが、三人の扶養家族があると九千六百圓が六千圓に三分の一が減せられるわけである。しかも來年一月からの實施が要請されているのであるから勞働者にとつては從來時間外勞働によつて働けば働くほど税金に吸收されていたのが、早急に輕くなるわけである。酒税は値上げで本年四月下げた分を又戻すので、燒ちゆう一升四百四十圓が又七百圓位に引上げられるかも知れない。織物消費税の撤廢で絹、毛織物の四〇パーセントが一〇パーセントに下げられるので主婦は相當に助かる。その他映畫館などの入場税が一五〇パーセントだつたのが一〇〇パーセントに五割下つて入場料も幾分安くなるわけである。吉田首相も八月二十七日聲明を發表し、シャウプ報告の線にそうて今年度は三百億以上の輕減につとめると述べ、十月下旬開會豫定の臨時國會に於て法案の審議がなされる豫定である。いづれにせよ、シャウプ勧告書は新財源の大部分を重要物資補給金のうちきりによるものである以上、物價の値上りを考えれば大衆の生活は大して樂になるものとは思われない、耐久生活は續くものである。むしろ最高税率の引下げ等で企業經營の健全化と株主優遇をはかり日本の復興をまず産業の安定恢復からという狙いと見られる

最低賃金七十五仙

カナダ勞働會議年會で要求決議

【カルガリー發】先週金曜日から當地で開會されたトレーブ・アンド・レーバー・コングレス・オヴ・カナダの第六十四回大會（會員四十四万、出席代表一千）では、生活費の高騰と生産増加に併行させるために、カナダ全國的に最低賃金時給七十五仙を法律で定めることを要求する決議を通過した。或る州では時給四十仙しか得ていない勞働者があつて勞働組合運動の障害となつていると指摘したものがあつたが、代表者の中には、勞働者は法律の力によるよりも勞働組合の運動を通してこそ高い生活標準を獲得すべきであると主張した者もあつた

カナダ平價切下げ 英貨値さげに呼應

【ロンドン發】豫測されていた通り、英國は輸出振興を計るためポンドの平價を三分の一(四弗三仙から二弗八〇仙に)切下げを斷行した。クリップス英藏相はワシントンのドル會議より歸國翌日の十八日夜英貨を二弗八十仙という大幅に値下するとラヂオ放送した

英貨切下に並行して英聯邦諸國全部とフランス其他のソ聯勢力下以外の西歐諸國等十九ヶ國も平價を切下た

日本にも大打撃

【東京發】ポンド平價の大巾切下げによつて「日本の輸出は大いに減退するだろう」という意見に一致しているが、どうしても圓貨は現行率を保持しなければならないという態度を持している。池田藏相は政府最高經濟專門家と重要會談をとげた結果「圓貨に關しては進駐軍當局から何等かの指令があるべきだが、藏相としての自分は目下圓の爲替レート變更は順當でないと思う」と語った。ポンド・レートは自動的に一千八圓となつた

英品値下り

【オタワ發】英貨四弗〇三仙を二弗八〇仙に引下げたので英輸入品、自動車、毛織製品、陶器、刃物、茶、ウイスキーなどは約三〇パーセント安くなる。ある品物はカナダ製品よりも安價になるため、國内市場で英品と太刀打ちが出來なくなるものときえ憂慮されて居り、特に英國產の自動車は現在の千二百弗のが九百弗で購入出來る事になり、カナダ業者にとつて英貨の大幅切下は大きな打撃とされて居り、カナダ貨の一〇パーセント割引き發表によりコールの値上り、ガソリン、燃料油等も値が高くなる。左黨には英產のスコッチ・ウイスキーが安く手に入るというよいニュースもある

國際基督教大學(東京)
建設資金募集委員長にグルー前大使

【ニューヨーク發】日本に建設されることになつている國際キリスト教大學建設資金一千萬弗募集委員長には前駐日大使グルー氏が指名された旨發表された。この大學は東京附近に建設して一九五一年四月から開校することになつて居り、總長には同志社大學總長の湯淺八郎博士(戰時中ニューヨークに滯在していた)が任命されている。資金募集運動は米國とカナダを通じて行われる筈で、同じような運動は日本でも既に行われて目標額の一億五千萬圓募集は完了している

英語國となる日本
五十年後には可能 河上清氏

河上清氏は九月三日のクリスチャン・サイエンス紙マガジン・セクション紙上に「日本人に英語」と題する論文を寄せているが、「もし英語が組織的に教授されるならば、日本は今後五十年には英語を話す國家となるであろう」と日本の一部教育者達は樂觀的な豫測をなしていると結論している。河上氏は日本語の難點を指摘すると同時に、幾多の缺點を持つ日本語[illegible]改正法は[illegible]本語を全的に[illegible]。これに代つて西洋語を採用する能はないと述べ、日本に廣くゆきわたつている有力な近代語英語が妥當な選擇であるとし斯る言語の改革は新生日本に新しい民主々義を教え、必然的に日本人の心情に影響を與えるであろうと述べている

醫學留學生
日米教育交換で アメリカから

【大阪發】日米留學生交換を一層活潑にするため、訪日中のアメリカ國務省教育官ラッセル博士の一行は大阪における教育關係者懇談會で次のように語った

△われわれは今後日米兩國の留學生交換を兩國政府當局間で公式にとり上げる準備として日本教育關係者の意見と希望を調査するため訪日した。この留學生交換計畫は兩國の高專、大學の學生、教授のほか一般學術研究者もふくまれ留學期間は一年から四年の豫定である

△アメリカからは現在アメリカの各醫學校に超滿員であるため、日本の醫學校入學を希望するものが多く留學生のトップを占めると思う。日本の醫學界は治療醫學は發達しているが、豫防、公衆衛生醫學は不振であると聞いているので出來るだけ學術振興の立場から權威者を送りたいと考えている

バスケット不足のため 出荷出來ず腐る

【セント・カザリンス發】ナイアガラ半島一たいの今年のピーチエスは豫想外の豐作なので出荷に必要なバスケットが不足のために、値段は當地で一バスケット三十五仙にまで下り、一万トン餘りのピーチエスは樹上や地上で腐つていると見積られている。バスケット工場では全力を出して運轉しているけれども北部オンタリオに於ける勞働者不足で材料が思うように手に入らず目下百万バスケットが不足している有樣である

トロント埠頭の慘事 死者百廿一、行方不明八十九

カナダ海運界歴史上最悪の大慘事がトロント埠頭で十七日(土)早朝に突發死者、負傷者多數を出し目下原因調査中である——カナデアン・スチームシップ・ライン所有船ノラニック號(六、九〇五噸)はクリーブランド及びデトロイト方面の米人客五百十一名(別に船員百七十三名)計六百八十五名を滿載、クリーブランドを出港ウエランド運河を通過して十六日夜トロント第九號埠頭に碇泊、十八日東方オンタリオ湖上の一千島見物に出帆する豫定であつたが、土曜日午前二時十五分頃、大廣間から原因不明の出火あり、折から熟睡中の船客は逃げ口を求めて大混亂を起しているまに火焔は忽ちに全船を包み多數は水中に飛び込んだり、ロープでつるし降ろされたりして救出されたが、逃げ場を失つて燒け死した者は判明せるだけで百廿一名、行方不明八十五名という犠牲者を出した。船客が多數上陸市内見物していたので人命の被害はこの程度で濟んだとの事であるが、船員はいづれも「ストライキ破り組」の未熟な者ばかりで消火に努めたらしいが、消し切れず遂に警報が發せられ、消防車及び消防船の一齊出動となつた頃にはノラニック號は全船火の海となつていたという。火災の損害は九百萬弗で人命、所持品者は保險金でカバーされるとの事である

ACCENTS ON SPORTS

The All-Oriental Basketball Tournament this year is to be held in San Jose, Calif. Last year's winner was the San Francisco Chinese St. Mary's Saints.

The National Nisei Vue Invitational Basketball Tournament has been set for Chicago on Nov. 26 and 27. Four top sectional teams, Chicago Huskies, Hawaiian All-Stars, Salt Lake City Harlem A. C., and Berkeley Niseis, have been invited with the Chicago and the Hawaiian entries already accepting the bid.

This will be the first time that a Nisei basketball tourney will be held on so wide a scope.

Frankie Toyota, training with other Boston Bruin hopefuls, has returned to his home in St. Catharines. Being still eligible for juvenile competion, it is not known whether he will line up with the juveniles or the juniors. Last year, he played with the juvenile St. Catharines Lions. He was regarded as one of the fastest skaters in the entire league.

Nor is the athletic prowess in the Toyota family confined to Frankie. His sister, Mrs. Kay Fujiwara, entered the women's amateur one-mile swim at the Canadian National Exhibition. She failed to finish like so many entrants as the icy waters of Lake Ontario numbed her.

But she hopes to try again next year and is practicing diligently.

Shiro Hashizume, one of the swimmers from Japan, is planning to retire. After returning from the successful trip to Los Angeles and Honolulu, Hashizume was operated on for appendectomy and he believes that following the surgery, he will not be able to swim as well.

One of the most popular figures in the prewar Nippon Professional Baseball League was Buck Harris (not the famous boy manager of the American League, now piloting the San Diego Padres in the Pacific Coast League). He was playing manager of the Tokyo Eagles during the 1937 and 1938 seasons.

One year he led the league in home runs. Harris played one year with a Nagoya team which paid for his fiancee's trip from Los Angeles to Japan, so they they could get married in Nagoya. Now a successful brick contractor in Los Angeles, he has an 11-year old daughter nicknamed "Rin-chan".

Westerns Need One More Win To Gain Finals Split Saturday Doubleheader 6-2, 4-12

Four games in three days, and the Westerns broke even with Mayfairs, with two ties and a win and a loss, as the playoffs were speeded up in order to finish them before the season gets too advanced. After two successive ties in two successive twilight encounters, the Westerns and Mayfairs engaged in a double header on Sept. 17 at St. Clair Memorial Stadium, each winning a game a piece.

As the Westerns had previously taken the initial meeting between the two teams, they remained one up, needing only one more victory to enter the finals against West York.

In the opener, the Nisei representatives, behind Kenny Ohara's 6 hitter, won 6-2, collecting 10 hits, with Ken Mitsui and Baron Wakabayashi sharing half of them.

The second game became a ninth inning slaughter, as Mayfairs, down one run, battered three Western pitchers, and pushed over nine runs to win the game 12-4.

Maroons Win Rain-Soaked Contest 21-13 To Become Champs In Winnipeg Baseball

WINNIPEG. -- The Maroons romped off with a 21-13 victory over the Diamond Sox to win the Winnipeg Nisei Baseball League Championship best of three series 2-0.

A light drizzle which fell throughout the game made it into a pitcher's nightmare as the slippery ball became difficult to control. The Maroons hammered out 18 hits in collecting their 21 runs while committing seven miscues and getting nine walks. The Diamond Sox collected 13 runs on eight hits, 15 walks and four errors.

The Diamond Sox opened the first inning by scoring four unearned runs with the Maroons coming back in their half with nine runs on seven hits and two errors. The Diamond Sox kept adding to their score inning after inning but the Maroons came back with six runs in the third and four runs in the fifth to take a comfortable lead in coasting to the win.

The Maroons got eight extra base hits in their 18 hit attack. Leading the hit parade was Sammy Matsuo with two doubles and two triples in seven trips while Frank Yahiro and Tak Hirose both collected three hits. Every man in the lineup came through with a hit.

Leading the Sox attack was Frank Kika with three singles and Mac Otsu with two hits.

regard it supported the candidacies of men who would not tamper with the status quo.

The Tokyo Club dealt in booze and vice (which is the polite journalistic euphemism for prostitution) but its main interest was in gambling. It was active wherever money flowed freely—in the fishing towns after the boats had come in and the men had been paid, in harvest camps and in farming communities like Guadalupe or Walnut Grove.

Tokyo Club money also sponsored a number of legitimate business enterprises and its influence was strong enough to intimidate most of the Japanese vernacular newspapers. Rare was the editor who would raise his pen against the Tokyo Club.

The Tokyo Club thus was a factor in community affairs. Its leaders often gave freely to worthy causes and, during the bleakest days of the depression in the early 1930s, it maintained a nightly breadline.

Because it thrived on reaction and corruption, the Tokyo Club opposed progress and reform, both within and outside the Japanese community. Its activities and influence diminished in Los Angeles following the defeat of the Shaw machine and the election of Mayor Fletcher Bowron in the late 1930s. The advent of the reformers in Los Angeles politics had its reverberations in Little Tokyo and was followed by the arrest and trial of some Tokyo Club leaders on a kidnapping charge, featuring violence and bribery and the involvement of at least two police officers in a plot which was reminiscent of a Hollywood scenario.

It may be that the Tokyo Club and similar groups would have eventually died of economic malnutrition. The war and evacuation, of course, destroyed their network of illegitimate activities. There is no evidence that any such underworld organization, with the scope and activities of the Tokyo Club, has been organized since the war.

The Tokyo Club operated within the West Coast Japanese community in much the way that the Mickey Cohens are accused of doing on a larger scale. In each case the connivance of some corrupt public officials was a necessary factor. There was always the need for a fix.

There were frequent contests for power within the Tokyo Club and some of these struggles erupted into violence. The murder of a Tokyo Club official in San Francisco in 1934, never officially solved, may be attributed to one of these periodic scrambles for the spoils. One of the sieges of violence occurred in the mid-1930s when an east coast group attempted to move in on the organization.

There is an ironic sidelight in that a number of the Tokyo Club's leaders were arrested following Pearl Harbor and interned as "dangerous enemy aliens." Because they had been reactionary in their political attitudes, they had established some contact with super-nationalist elements in Japan. It was on this ground that these men were interned. It was something like sending Capone to Alcatraz for an income tax infraction. It is believed that several of these men repatriated to Japan at their first opportunity. Pacific Citizen
